

SAID GOOD-BYE TO OXFORD

The Girls Gathered Around Miss Peabody and Enjoyed a Final Love Feast.

Touching Scenes Attended on the Thirty-Seventh Commencement of the Western Female Seminary—Other Exercises.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

Oxford, O., June 11.—The Western Female Seminary has celebrated its thirty-seventh anniversary. The fine art and science building, named Alumnus Hall, in honor of her loyal daughters, was newly completed. Miss Peabody's first class that she can claim as all her own was graduated. Miss Peabody has just returned from Japan, where she went to see how her girls were doing the work there. There were two present who were in school the year of its opening, in 1855. One member of the first class, Mrs. W. H. Peabody, was present, and nearly all the classes were represented among the eighty alumnae who attended. One hundred and fourteen guests in all were entertained at the seminary. As nearly as possible members of contemporary classes were placed together, or side by side, and if they made any extra "travels" after retiring, due allowance was made for possibly not having the right side of the room to accommodate the "best car."

Tuesday evening the eight graduates in music gave a delightful entertainment. Wednesday was devoted to the business and trustee meetings. The class of '92 held its twenty-fifth, and the class of '90 its first reunion. The alumnae re-elected Mrs. Sarah Peabody, president of the association, and made Mrs. Mary Adams Draper secretary, with new assistant secretaries. It was voted to have a ribbon badge for use at the time of the world's fair, to consist of a bit of "seminary blue," inscribed. The Chicago girls will have charge of it, and furnish all the additional facts as required.

The trustees made an appropriation and gave leave of absence to Miss McKee to go abroad as soon as possible. The degree of Ph. D. was conferred upon Miss McKee by the Danville College of Kentucky. Mrs. Brice made the presentation speech for her class of '90, who gave the beautiful memorial window for Alumnus Hall. Miss Tillinghast, the artist, and Miss Brice, the model for the central figure in the window, were present. The window, whose design was suggested by Mrs. Brice, is beautiful, as well as the portraits of the three class daughters, Miss Brice, Miss Porter and Miss Carpenter. Miss Tillinghast replied in behalf of the alumnae; Mrs. Thompson, the oldest member of the board, spoke for the trustees, and Miss Peabody for the seminary and faculty. The Branch Alumnae Association's eight members were all but one represented. A long-wished-for portrait of Mr. Hunkle was presented by his family. The Philharmonic String Quartet, of Cincinnati, and the Polyphonia Choral Society, of the seminary, furnished the music, while the tambourine drill by a number of girls made a beautiful feature of Wednesday evening's entertainment in the new building.

Mrs. Alice Freeman Palmer's address on commencement day was rich in practical ideas and most impressive to all who listened. The dedication of Alumnus Hall followed commencement exercises. Addresses were made by Miss Peabody, Miss McKee, Mrs. Brice and others. Mrs. Smith, the treasurer, reported Alumnus Hall entirely paid for and a surplus on hand. The keys were delivered to Mr. Thompson, who responded. A check for $1,000 was received from the estate of Mrs. Jane Lewis, who during her life had given some much for the seminary. A generous sum was realized from the unique "laborers" sent out to former pupils, who were given the keys to the seminary and the noble interests at the seminary are gladdened in heart, and strengthened in faith and hope for the seminary's future.

One incident touches more tenderly the memory of all the alumnae present. That which occurred when Miss Peabody was called to meet them after all other exercises were over. One of the number briefly stated that knowing she so soon expected to move to Pasadena, Cal., they felt that they could not let her go without some special words of benediction from her. Her reply was as follows: "Why, dear girls, I think I am the one who is receiving the benediction all this time in your beautiful love and loyalty. I am perfectly happy in the idea of going to a home of my own, where I can have a spare room with the latch-string always out for the place for the baby and a warm welcome for all the children. I will not tell you nor the seminary good-bye, for we shall meet again. As for the seminary, I leave it in the hands of God, where it is always safely defended. Thus I put you and the seminary all in God's hands."

All the Girls Wore Calico.

BLOOMINGDALE, Ind., June 11.—The commencement exercises of Bloomingdale Academy were held in Overman Hall last night. The girls of the class were attired in neat fitting calico gowns. The music was furnished by Miss Blanche Treary, Parke county's gifted singer, recently returned from New York and Boston, where she met with much praise. Following were the speakers:

Nettie Sutherland, "The Rough Diamond"; Alice B. Henderson, "Personal Power in Social Life"; William Walcott, "Man's Inclination to Disobey the 'I Oughts'"; Laura Newlin, "The Marble Statues"; Madeleine Lewis, "The Cultured Man"; Mendenhall, "One Chapter in History"; Horace E. Coleman, "The Realm of Mind."

The honors of the class were conferred upon H. E. Coleman by Prof. Mitchell.

"Sub Poena" Take Prizes.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., June 11.—The annual prize exhibition of the preparatory department was held last evening at the college chapel. The speakers were divided into two classes, juniors and seniors. First junior prize was given to Mr. Rauch and the second to Mr. West. First senior prize was awarded to Mr. Lamb and second to Mr. Sonne. Judges were Prof. L. M. Wellington, J. L. Shrum and R. N. Whiteford. Prizes for scholarship to the classical preparatory course were given to C. C. Combrink, of Carrollton, Ill., and of the scientific course to Robert N. Todd, of Indianapolis.

STILL FINDING BODIES.

Remains of Several Victims Recovered from the Debris in the Oil District.

TRINITYVILLE, Pa., June 11.—Another body, blackened by decomposition, was taken from the ruins this morning, about 9 o'clock, from the same locality which has already yielded four corpses. It was that of Bert Omer, aged nine years, and was found back of Brown's, on Mechanic street. The scene at the morgue, when the gray-haired old father identified the remains, was heart-rending. He alone, of his family, survives this terrible disaster. The bodies of his wife and other son were taken from the ruins early in the week. The burial took place immediately at Woodlawn cemetery. The interment of bodies is made as quickly as possible. Hardly is time taken to properly conduct the services at the grave so great is the fear of the spread of pestilence. The remains of a woman were also found near the National railway, but decomposition prevented identification. A terrible stench comes from many localities in the flooded and fire-swept district and is a great source of indignation that more bodies lie hidden from sight, great swarms of flies and other insects have led the workmen in many instances to where a body was wedged under a heap of wreckage or to the discovery of a hand or foot turned away from the remains of some victim of the fire. A much larger force of men was put to work this morning. The city authorities realize that no time is to be wasted in clearing away the debris lest pestilence follow. At least five hundred men and two hundred teams comprise the force.

Fifty insurance agents arrived today from Ohio City, and will make a speedy adjustment of the losses. Aid in the shape of money and clothes is coming in rapidly. Ten thousand dollars is the amount received today. A large lot of provisions and clothing also arrived and was transferred to the City Hall, where it was distributed; yet the demand exceeds the supply.

Two Bodies Found Near Oil City.

OIL CITY, Pa., June 11.—Two bodies were found today, one at Beaverton and the other at Emlenton. The former is supposed to be James White and the latter Ambrose Moran. This brings the list of known dead at Oil City to fifty-four and at Titusville sixty-five. A number of persons are still missing. Benjamin Lee, secretary of the State Board of Health, visited the stricken district yesterday, and expressed himself as well pleased with the sanitary arrangements. The coroner's jury will begin its investigation into the causes of the disaster Monday.

GIFT OF THE KING'S DAUGHTERS.

Another Ship Loaded with Food Sent to the Starving Russians of Russia.

NEW YORK, June 11.—The ship St. Leo sailed this afternoon from Central dock, near Hamilton ferry, Brooklyn, with a cargo of breadstuffs, meats and infants' food, in addition to 1,500 tons of flour for the starving Russian peasants. The ship was decorated by the ladies of the different circles of the King's Daughters with flags and bunting, and here and there fluttered a streamer with the red cross, the emblem of the King's Daughters. Before leaving Rev. Dr. Talpaga held a short service on board, blessing the cargo, and asking for a safe journey across the ocean. Conspicuous in the gathering was Louis Loris, a Russian exile, who is in this country lecturing and sending the proceeds to his suffering countrymen. Dr. Talpaga said that he and Dr. Kopp would be in Russia with the St. Leo and would personally superintend the distribution of the gifts. As the ship weighed anchor, the ladies made choir and others on the deck gave the vessel and its freight a God-speed in song.

HAMILTON MCCOY.

The Funeral Services Held Yesterday at the Residence—Place of Burial.

Yesterday afternoon the funeral services of Mr. Hamilton McCoy were held at his residence, 275 North Delaware street, and were largely attended. A delegation of Philoxenian Lodge, 44, of Odd-fellows was present. The services were conducted by Rev. M. L. Haines, of the First Presbyterian Church, of which Mr. McCoy was a member, followed by the impressive and beautiful funeral ritual of the Order of Odd-fellows. Rev. B. F. Foster, chaplain, officiating. The remains will be taken today for interment to Winchester, Ky.

Mr. McCoy was born Jan. 30, 1837, near Wheeling, W. Va. He received a thorough education at Jefferson College, Pennsylvania, he lived for seven years in Winchester, Ky., having charge of the school there, and devoting himself especially to instruction in Greek and Latin. While living there he was married to Miss Ella Bush. During the war, though living among Southern sympathizers, he was thoroughly loyal, at no small danger and cost to himself, to the national government. Twenty-one years ago he came to Indianapolis and has been actively identified with its interests ever since, and has been engaged first in insurance and then in manufacturing enterprises. He was a man of gentlemanly instincts, high social position, a fault, large hearted. He held at one time the office of grand master of the Grand Lodge of Odd-fellows, of Indiana. As a member of the First Presbyterian Church he was conspicuous for the zeal and ability with which for a number of years he labored to create and maintain a high standard of excellence in the musical part of the church services. By his kindness of heart, his sympathetic, helpful spirit, he won for himself a large circle of friends.

ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE.

Young Man Tries to Kill Himself in Jessie Moore's Bath.

About 7 o'clock last night Coroner Manker was called to Bessie Moore's No. 13 Erie street, to attend a young man named Leisher, who was reported to have attempted suicide by taking morphine. The case alleged was jealousy. An inmate of the house said she supposed he was jealous of her. She seemed very much afraid that person would think she gave him the poison, and refused to say anything about the case. She said the man was a traveling man from Chicago, and that he came to the house about 5 o'clock, while the police say the man is well known by them and lives here. He was seen going to the house with the girl about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She refused to give her name.

Row Between Brothers.

Officers Crane and Tomlinson arrested Henry and Louis Prange for assault and battery yesterday. Henry says that Louis, who is his brother, has been in the habit of abusing and cursing their father, and that last night he came into his father's grocery, on East Washington street, and began cursing him, and that when Henry remonstrated with him for his unbecoming conduct he struck him in the face, and defended himself. Mr. Gerstner, an East Washington-street merchant, went on the bond of Henry and he was released.

Found at Lebanon.

Phil Reichwein received a telegram last night from Marshal Oden, of Lebanon, stating that his father, John Reichwein, who has been missing for a few days, was at that place. He left on the 12 o'clock train last night to bring his father back. It is supposed that the old man got into a box car and fell asleep, and did not awake until he reached Lebanon.

New Industries.

Articles of incorporation were yesterday filed with the Secretary of State as follows: Equitable Building and Loan Saving Association, Rushville, capital stock $100,000; John B. Ruger's Son's Company, Lafayette, capital stock $75,000. The American Mortar Company increased its capital stock from $20,000 to $75,000, and so notified the Secretary of State.

An Agreement Reached.

The barbers have agreed with the Board of Public Safety to keep their shops closed on Sunday hereafter and will make no effort to run in violation of the law. It is probable that in consequence of this agreement the cases against the barbers arrested last Sunday will be dismissed.

Poisoning of Dogs.

It would be well for the owners of valuable dogs to keep a close watch upon them, as several very valuable ones have been poisoned within the last few days. B. A. C. Constant owned a very fine animal, known as "Hoosier Harry," which was poisoned Friday night.

Master Plumbers.

Messrs. Haley and Kirkhoff, of the Master Plumbers' Association, will go to Washington, D. C., this week, to attend the national meeting of their association. They will bear with them an invitation from the Commercial Club to meet there next year.

A Bold Thief.

David Keller, living at 36 South West street, reported at the police station last night that there had been stolen from his house a certificate of deposit for $50 in the Merchants' National Bank, and five notes amounting to $500.

To Congratulate the President.

The State Association of Commercial Travelers is already making arrangements to go to Washington in a body to congratulate President Harrison upon his re-election today. It will be the first organization on the ground.

MR. FRENZEL TRIUMPHANT

He Succeeds in Electing His Own Men as Members of the School Board.

Russ in the Fourth, Roth in the Seventh and Adam in the Eighth is the Way It Stands—Men Voted Fraudulently.

Never in the history of Indianapolis has an election for school commissioners called out so large a vote as that of yesterday. Usually elections for this important office caused little interest, and it is not infrequently the case that a single aspirant appears who is elected without opposition, and by only two or three score of votes.

The contests in the three districts in which elections were held yesterday were exceedingly warm. In the Seventh district the candidates were Mr. Buddenbaum, who appeared for re-election, who was opposed by Mr. Roth, who was recognized as one of the three candidates in whose success John P. Frenzel has more than a passing interest. The Roth adherents were out in full force and vigor. The Seventh district school-yard and sidewalks swarmed with patriots with Roth tickets, while numerous vehicles were engaged in bringing the Roth voters to the polls.

A similar state of affairs prevailed in the Eighth district, where Charles Adam, a young man brought out, it is understood, in Mr. Frenzel's interest, opposed E. L. Williams, who appeared for re-election to a position in which he has given good service. In this district the brewery and saloon men were exceedingly active, working for Mr. Adam, and early in the day Mr. Williams was of the opinion that the vote was running heavily against him. Several school keepers spent the entire day at this point and seemed to have direction of the wagons that went about voters. It was charged that a large number of those who voted for Adam did not live in the district, but that the wagons had picked up voters wherever they could find them. It was useless to challenge any vote, and every ballot presented went into the box.

The Fourth district had three candidates, and from the interest taken in the election any one not otherwise informed would have supposed a full county ticket was in the field. Three candidates appeared, Mr. Lenny and Mr. Mauer, both of whom are Republicans, and Henry Russ, the last named a well-known Democratic politician and who was given out to be the choice of Mr. Frenzel for the position. A number of well-known Democratic workers from other school districts were on hand to assist Mr. Russ in winning the fight. Among those who were about the polls were Albert Schmitt, of the Seaguard ward, who appeared to have charge of the Russ forces. Several spirited disputes occurred during the day in this district, one of them resulting in a knock-down. There was a large colored vote, most of which went to Mr. Mauer. The trouble in this district appeared to be a superfluity of Republican candidates, and while the contest between Mr. Mauer and Mr. Lenny seemed to be a no easy road by which either could retire to leave the other to face Mr. Russ and the Frenzel influence alone.

As was to have been expected, Mr. Frenzel's candidate in each district was elected. In the Fourth district a total of 1,250 votes were cast, of which Henry Russ received 705; Henry Mauer 410; and Samuel Lenny 135. In the Seventh district, Mr. Buddenbaum received 1,282, of which Adam received 1,238, and E. G. Williams, the present member, 674. In the Eighth district Roth was also elected, receiving 1,250 votes, and Buddenbaum 209 out of a total of 724.

Mr. Frenzel now has a membership of the School Board. He will be elected president and will name the treasurer, who will not be in doubt as to the depository of the school funds.

BREADFUL PSORIASIS

Covering Entire Body with White Scales. Suffering Fearful. Cured by Cuticura.

My disease (psoriasis) first broke out on my left cheek, spreading across my nose, and almost covering my face. I consulted my physician, who said I would lose my eyesight altogether. It spread over my nose, and my hair all fell out, until I was entirely bald-headed; it then broke out on my neck and shoulders, until my arms were just one sore. It covered my entire body, my face, head and shoulders being the worst. The white scales fell constantly from my head, shoulders and arms; the skin would thicken and be red and very itchy, and would crack and bleed if scratched. By spending many hundreds of dollars, I was pronounced incurable. I heard of the Cuticura Remedies, and after using two bottles I was Resolved, I could see a chance; and after I had taken four bottles, I was almost cured; and when I had used six bottles of Cuticura Remedies, one box of Cuticura and one cake of Cuticura Soap, I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had suffered for five years. I cannot express with a pen what I suffered before using the Remedies. I have cured thousands of cases where the shedding of scales measured a quart daily. The skin cracked, bleeding, burning and itching almost beyond endurance, hair falling out or all gone, entering terrible. What other remedies have made such cures?
